29 October 2012

The Registry of the European Court of Human Rights has received your communication of 4 October 2012, from which it appears that you intend to lodge an application with the Court.

In this connection please note that, pursuant to Article 35 § 1 of the Convention the applicant must apply to the Court within a period of six months from the date on which the final decision was taken. According to the established case-law of the Court, the running of the six-month period is interrupted only if a communication from an applicant sets out, at least in summary form, the factual basis of the complaint made and the violations of the Convention alleged to result. In this respect you should consult the enclosed copy of the Convention and its Protocols and the notice for prospective applicants.

In the instant case it appears that your letter contains no information whatsoever about the facts of the case or the nature of your complaints.

In order to interrupt the running of the six-month period, you must therefore provide more precise information within that period, failing which your application is likely to be declared inadmissible.
